THEME: ENSURING QUALITY & ADDRESSING CHALLENGES IN THE SPECTRUM OF LAB DIAGNOSIS

The second edition of CAHOLABCON 2023, the annual conference organized by the Diagnostic Division of CAHO, was successfully held in Hyderabad on April 14th. The event was preceded by two workshops - Immunohistochemistry and Learning Clinical Microbiology & Infection through clinical cases held at Yashoda Hospital & Star Hospitals Hyderabad, and it marked the first in-person conference since the outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic.

The conference brought together leaders and experts from the diagnostic sectors of the country, providing a platform for them to discuss recent developments in laboratory testing, radiology, and quality management. The event also addressed the challenges facing laboratory management and showcased new strategies for implementing quality strategies. Students had the opportunity to collaborate and learn from experts in the field, honing their ability to resolve laboratory-related issues with their colleagues.

The Guest of Honour, Dr. Venkatesh Thuppal, suggested strategies for CAHO's Diagnostic Division to spearhead training and research activities. Distinguished guests from NABL, including Mr. Pankaj Johri, were also present. The conference received 300 delegate registrations from across the country, and a poster competition was conducted for delegates, with winners being awarded.

Kudos to Dr. Shanthi K Naidu (Organizing Chairperson), Dr. Tapadia R (Organizing Secretary), and Dr. Prasanthi M, along with the Diagnostic Division team, especially Dr. Aparna Jairam (Secretary-CAHO Diagnostic Division) and Dr. Simi Bhatia (Representative Histopathology - CAHO Diagnostic Division), for organizing this wonderful program. The event provided a memorable experience for all participants, enabling people from laboratory medicine to interact and exchange ideas, and ultimately contributing to the advancement of clinical diagnostics in India.
